► OFFLINE SEARCH SYSTEM

► Bundesdruckerei GmbH in co-operation with the German Patent and Trademark Office supplies the DEPAROM CD series. Equipped with all the CDs in this series, users and researchers have instant access every year to more than 100,000 full documents, including publications of unexamined applications, patent specifications, utility model specifications and European specifications translated into German. All the CD-ROMs offer a host of search variants with different search strategies warranting convenient access to the data searched for. Display, print out, downloading and electronic data management are possible at all times. Even importing into existing company databases is possible.

Handling large data volumes

With DEPAROM-ACT, Bundesdruckerei offers user-friendly access to all weekly published unexamined applications and patent specifications as well as the international T1/T5 specifications of the German Patent and Trademark Office (GPTO) translated into German.

DEPAROM-U presents the utility model specifications of the German Patent and Trademark Office that are published every fortnight. DEPAROM-ACT and DEPAROM-U are designed for companies, research institutes, professional patent researchers and patent attorneys.

DEPAROM-T2 provides access to the German translations of the European patent specifications of the German Patent and Trademark Office (GPTO) that are published every week. These are patent documents that are valid in the Federal Republic of Germany and which were published by the European Patent Office in English or French. DEPAROM-T2 is suitable for companies, institutions and researchers where preference is given to accessing foreign-language European patent specifications in German.

DEPAROM-KOMPAKT contains the bibliographic data of the GPTO patent documents that are published every week. This CD-ROM series enables users to search through around one million data records dating back to July 1991. DEPAROM-KOMPAKT is designed for all users keen to search all German patent applications and patents over several years. ◀
